Kickers Kick Hi

Photographs Elliot Kennedy Styling Karen Mason Words Edward Moore

KICKERS OPENED THEIR first store on the King's Road in London in 1975 and duly released the Kick Hi, a shoe that has made it into the wardrobe of various UK subcultures over the past four decades.

The successor to the first Kickers shoe, the Legend – inspired by the spirit of 1968 Paris student protests – the Kick Hi introduced the brand's hardwearing cleated sole, suitable for stomping at football terraces, exploring illegal raves, and navigating the dance floors of the Hacienda and UK garage nights alike. ■
